Revised Risk Assessment Samples for the Healthcare Sector

Slips, trips and falls, struck by moving objects and needle stick injuries are the most common injuries in the healthcare sector. Knowing these injuries and steps to mitigate them alone is not sufficient. An effective risk management should also consider personal health and fitness required of the worker for each job function. The WSH Council has revised the sample risk assessment compiled for medical, dental, TCM, veterinary clinics and nursing homes to include such elements.
